The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The House went into a Committee of the Whole with Beckley in the chair, House bill 37 was read section by section. Aylett took exception to the abolition of the first section, as it would ruin the measure. He stated that the main reason for introducing the bill was to offer relief to the poor man as against the rich. Under the violation of the present Sunday laws, a poor man is put in jail, while the rich man goes free. The playing of the band on Sunday was much a violation of the law as anything else, and in doing this, the Government is a violater of its own laws.

The law as it now stands is a good one for those who want to attend church, but what about the man who does not attend church? Before the band was allowed to play on Sunday, to the drill shed and asked the members of the band if they would like to band has played regularly.
